

19978. PSIDIUM sp.*Guayabilla.

From Colombia. Presented by Mr. Alfonso Delgada, Colombian consul, New Orleans, La., through Mr. O. W. Barrett. Received March 14, 1907.

"Seed of a guayabilla said to be native to the mountains of central Colombia and to resemble guava in many points." (Delgada.)

19979. MUCUNA LYONI.

From Manila, P. I. Presented by Mr. W. S. Lyon, of the Bureau of Agriculture, February 13, 1907.

"This species was grown in a number of places in the South in comparison with the ordinary velvet bean, and our belief, based on one season's work, is that lyoni is a distinct advance over utilis. It is especially characterized by its more rapid growth and much greater prolificness, which ought to make it possible to grow seed considerably cheaper than the seed of the Florida velvet bean." (C. V. Piper.)
