 curator, Lloyd Botanic Garden, through the Bengal Forest Department.
 Received September 5, 1907.

(See description under S. P. I. No. 21347 for comparison.)

21299 and 21300.

From Piracicaba, São Paulo, Brazil. Received from Dr. J. William Hart, director of the Agricultural College, through Prof. C. V. Piper, August 31, 1907.

21299. VIGNA UNGUICULATA. Cowpea.
Macassar or Bluc cowpea. "Less vigorous at first, but ultimately out-classes other varieties in vigor and productiveness. Locally known as Feijão macassar." (Hart.) (See also S. P. I. No. 21006.)

21300. MUCUNA GIGANTEA. Velvet bean.
 "Ripens one month later than the ordinary velvet bean." (Hart.)

21302. DAUCUS CAROTA. Carrot.

From Soochow, China. Presented by Dr. W. H. Park, of the Soochow Hospital, through Mr. F. N. Meyer, agricultural explorer. Received August 29, 1907.

"Found on inquiry not to grow in this part of China, but in the northern part of this province in the deep, loose soil of the Yellow River. Original seed bought from a peddler and planted in the garden, and these seeds were collected from two plants grown from them. On account of its great length of over a foot or more it needs deep soil. Yellow River carrot or Chinese Wonder suggested as varietal names." (Park.)

"There are several varieties of carrot which might come under this description, but probably those sent are what are known as Yellow Belgium in this country. There is another called Long Lemon-Colored. I don't think any of them are very desirable, at least here where a darker colored sort is preferred."
 (W. W. Tracy, sr.)

21306 and 21307.

From Wellington Point, Brisbane, Queensland, Australia. Presented by Mr.
 James Pink. Received September 9, 1907.

21306. CITRUS AUSTRALASICA. Finger lime.

"This citrus is very local in its distribution and, so far as I know, is found only on the slopes of Tambourine Mountain, about 80 miles south from Brisbane." (Pink.) (See also S. P. I. Nos. 14993 and 18550.)

21307. RUBUS sp. Raspberry.

Federal.
